If you want to delete duplicates rather than simply find and mark them, Ä 'better select the entire table so that the add-in removes entire rows avoiding data corruption. Step 3: Select the columns you want to check Here you will see a list of columns in your tableÄÄ tck the ones you want to check for duplicates (complete matches): Note: Ä you can also remove all rows with values found only within the selection... If you have header rows, be sure to check that the table has headers to see column headings. Find, delete, move, copy, or delete duplicate or unique rows in the spreadsheet. Otherwise, empty matches will be considered duplicate. Only complete matches are treated as duplicates before starting. Choose any sheet from the list and the add-in will take care of always of it, no matter which tab you start the scenario from. Scenarios will help you drastically reduce the number of mouse clicks. Use the AutoSelect button to automatically detect the range used (before the first blank row and column) with the data. Step 2: choose what to find The add-in lets you control the table for 4 data types: Select Duplicates to delete any repeating rows in the table. Once you are finished, you will see the result message telling you which scenario Ä was used and what Ä was found: Manage Scenarios You can view and manage your scenarios at any time from the Sheets menu in Google. Partial matches are not considered duplicate. Click Next to proceed to the second step. You change the range by entering the desired address in the The interval with the data or by clicking the Select Interval icon. Note: This is necessary for the new spreadsheets and those in which the add-on has not yet been performed. You can select the Skip empty cells option to ignore duplicate empty spaces in the selected columns. Use the add-on Remove duplicate for Google sheets to manage duplicate data in the table. Click Click To find duplicate or unique values. Verify that the other options selected in points 2-4 are correct. We care about your data and always suggest you create backup copies of your spreadsheets. Choose Add Status Column to identify the lines of interest in a separate column. For this interval, you will need to start the scenario exactly from the sheet you want to process. If you want to look for duplicates of complete lines, deselect all columns simultaneously using the upper check box in the header line. Click Next to go to the next step. Use the fields of the contents of the first line to display the type of data available in each column. These options cannot be changed. This add-in allows you to find identical or unique lines in the table. Please keep in mind that Google Sheets limits the total number of possible cells in the file up to 5 million cells. If you select more than one column, a row will be considered duplicated if the values of all selected columns are the same: Tip. Cut and paste records found in another sheet, spreadsheet or in a specific location of the document with the option Move to another location. A special option of the add-in will do it for you if you select it. The add-in will look for the first duplicate data items in addition to the unique records: it is possible to return to step 1 by clicking Back. Step 4: Decide what to do with the values found The add-in allows you to choose one of the six ways to manage the records found: Select the option button next to the action you want to apply: Highlight the rows with the items found by selecting the Option fill with color. Ä * äy " Ä Ä, save the scenario to save the settings in a scenario, click on the corresponding option in the result message: The window with the summary of the settings will be displayed. To merge or consolidate unique records that refer to multiple duplicate values on different rows, select Combine duplicate rows. Your scenario (and all future ones) in the menu automatically. Open the Extensions menu, find Remove Duplicates, and click the Find Duplicate or Unique Rows tool: Tip. This does not support the [Selected Range] option from below. To process this range, make sure you run the scenario from the sheet you want to edit. You can also enter an exact range for the add-on to always manage the same cells. To save these settings and use them in the future, click Save Scenario. Use the Match case option to treat records that differ only in the case as unique. unique.
